

D.E.E.T. Program

Development of Enhanced Education and Training

Development of Enhanced Education and Training (DEET) in Food, Agriculture, Natural and Human Sciences (FANH) is grant funded through the USDA's Next Generation of Diverse Food and Agricultural Professionals Program (NextGen).

Fond du Lac Tribal and Community College and Leech Lake Tribal College partner to provide sustainable educational and experiential opportunities for students interested in food, agricultural, natural and human science career fields.

Program Goals

- ▶ Support students throughout their educational journey with academic and financial assistance with access to mentoring, peer-to-peer learning, and scholarships.
- ▶ Provide experiential learning opportunities for youth, college students, and community to explore FANH disciplines through field trips, research, projects, internships, and camps.
- ▶ Increase student interest in food and agriculture careers through community outreach, career counseling, direct recruiting, and professional development.

Questions: Maria DeFoe, DEET Coordinator, maria.defoe@fdltcc.edu, 218-879-0789

