FDL boys' basketball team fought like Ogichidaag at state

By Zachary N. Dunaiski

Ogichidaag means warriors, and that's exactly how the Fond du Lac boys' high school basketball team played on their way to a Section championship and a state playoff berth.

Last year FDL made history by making its first ever state tournament, and this year wasn't a guaranteed repeat. After losing players to graduation, injury, and other unfortunate circumstances, Fond du Lac looked like a long shot to repeat as section 7A champions. But with a core group of players back, and a few new faces, FDL struggled through the first half of the season. Then after the team hit the low point, losing to Mountain Iron-Buhl (MIB) by 35 in their own gym, the team came together, determined to turn their season around.

After that loss, FDL finished the season 12-4, losing to Red Lake, a team that also played in the state tournament. The other three losses included Minneapolis Washburn, a much larger school that was one win away from going to state in a larger class (AAA), Prairie Seeds Academy, a slightly larger school and Rushford Peterson, the team that only lost one game all year and won the Class A state title. The 12 wins had some close calls, but the only thing that matters is the final score.

While Fond du Lac's season mirrored their up and down pace on the court, their determination to the finish line was quite impressive winning 11 of the 12 games leading up to the state tournament. Their month and a half of dominance culminated during the section playoffs when they got a chance to redeem their early season misfortune by playing MIB in the Section Semi-final. FDL didn't squander that opportunity winning 85-69, and the outcome of the game never looked in doubt. In fact at times it looked like FDL was going to make it an even bigger victory.

Throughout the playoffs FDL moved the ball around beautifully getting all of their key players involved. Senior Dexter Delille was masterful in finding open teammates with his court vision and even making the crowd gasp at his control of the ball. Junior Jordan Diver hit big shots when the team needed them. Senior Cameron Thompson posed a threat to the teams they faced as he seemed at times un-guardable; too big and strong for guards, too quick for forwards. Junior Justin Brown was something that the team was lacking last year, a true post player with impressive size and length. But what is important to note about this Ogichidaag team, is that all of their players contributed; whether on the court during their state run, or during practice to help each other improve. These young men played great as a team, at times seeming to want the assist more than the basket themselves.

On the court, the Ogichidaag's play was breath taking at times, but even more impressive than their on the court play was their incredible sportsmanship off the court. Eventually losing at the state tournament by 47 (105-58), it would have been very easy for FDL to play rough or say the wrong thing, but that wasn't the case. FDL Head Coach Earl Otis was on WGZS with Dan Huculak during the Red Lake game and told the listeners about how people from other schools had come up to him and told him how the players and fans of FDL acted with great sportsmanship and class.

The boys had an incredible year, and while they wanted to bring home more hardware, what they did was an incredible accomplishment and something they shouldn't be disappointed about. Some of these kids could go on to play at the next level, and some of them will be back next season. For those of us who love to watch Ogichidaag basketball, we're excited to see what the underclassmen will do next year.

The mission of this publication is to provide the Anishinaabeg community of the Fond du Lac Band of Lake Superior Chippewa, Fond du Lac Reservation, with news and information that will be of help to them in their everyday lives. In addition, our goal will be to highlight many of the honors, accolades, accomplishments and awards that are earned by community members but are mostly overlooked by the mass mainstream media.

It is our hope that through greater information about the activities of our people, this publication can be an instrument of true community. It is not our intention to be a vehicle of divisiveness. To that end, we do not publish editorials, opinion pieces or letters to the editor. There is an abundance of opportunity for the publishing, airing and dissemination of material of personal opinion in other communication vehicles available throughout the area, region and state.

Our mission is to provide for Fond du Lac Anishinaabeg a publication that will not dismiss their culture, heritage, hopes and dreams. We are striving to make this newspaper fill that role.

FDL Police officers honored

During a traffic stop on Feb. 19, FDL police officers Sgt. Matthew Sobczak, Officer Christopher Durfee, and Officer Jordan Miller observed signs of criminal activity that resulted in an arrest.

As a result of that arrest, 4.3 ounces of heroin were found on the suspect, which has a street value of $60,000. They also had $2,590 in cash.

Because of their great work, these three officers were thanked by Chief of Police Sam Ojibway for going above and beyond what is often perceived as routine police work.

They have brought honor to themselves, the Fond du Lac Reservation, and the Fond du Lac Police Department.

FDL Community Visioning Session

Twenty two community members attended a Blandin Broadband Community Visioning Session on Mar. 18, to discuss ways that Fond du Lac can best connect their partnership with Blandin.

It was a very interesting brain storming session as it gave community members a chance to think about ways which Fond du Lac can best benefit from their partnership with Blandin while also hearing what other members of the community thought might be best for FDL.

These 22 members discussed things that Fond du Lac should think about regarding their Blandin partnership like the infrastructure and services, how the community can work to support the creation, attraction and support of a knowledgeable workforce; spur the adoption of innovation throughout the community and address digital inclusion. With these activities, these community members discussed ways to create both internal and external marketing and advocacy messages to attract people and investment.

After a brief review of the Blandin Community Broadband Program and Fond du Lac's involvement, small groups of attendees discussed key elements and FDL's assets and gaps and wrote their input on the charts of different topics. They also added their hopes and expectations of success in the "desired outcomes" section of the chart.

In light of the assets/gaps/outcomes discussions, each individual created their own list of possible projects that would leverage assets, fill gaps and drive the community towards the desired outcomes. Small groups then discussed the project ideas, eliminated duplicates and built strong combinations.

After group reporting, attendees voted to establish project priorities.

Members of the community who didn't or weren't able to attend but would like to be more involved or share ideas can contact Jamie Adams, Economic Development Planner, at (218) 878-2631 or email at jamieadams@fdlrez.com.

A few thoughts from RBC members

From the Chairwoman

In March, I was invited to speak to the Senate Indian Affairs Committee on the reauthorization of the Native American Housing Assistance and Self-Determination Act funding (NAHASDA). NAHASDA is the funding which primarily funds housing in Indian Country. There were three witnesses that testified: myself, a representative from the National American Indian Housing Council and the Director of Choctaw Housing Authority. Senator Tester (D-Montana), who previously visited Fond du Lac, is the vice-chair of the Committee. The Committee also includes Senator Al Franken (D-Minnesota).

While in Washington, there was follow-up with the Secretary of Indian Affairs asking him to intervene with the General Services Administration in moving the revised application to acquire Wisconsin Point along faster. Representative Nolan was also updated about how things are going at Fond du Lac, and sends his regards to the people of Fond du Lac.

At the end of February, the Minnesota Chippewa Tribe had its annual Legislative Dinner. Elected and appointed members of the State of Minnesota's government usually attend. Scheduled around this dinner were individual meetings with key members of the House and Senate. In particular, these individuals seemed interested in talking about the Band's environmental stewardship.

They are not used to the idea of having a tribe have regulatory authority over air quality, so they were bringing up the Band's proposal to designate the Reservation as Class I air quality (national park standard).

Additionally, the Band's stewardship on water quality is being perceived as a barrier to mining development. My response to these statements is that the Band has an inherent right to protect its citizens and the quality of our homeland and its resources. Further, we are disappointed in the state that all of their opposition to protecting clean water and air are based on money, whether jobs or the profits of companies. The Band is not trying to get in the way of any economic development efforts, but is trying to assure that there is a balance between those efforts, the environment, and public health.

Please let me know if you have any questions comments at the office (218) 878-2612 or by email karendiver@fdlrez.com.

Boozhoo,

We had our first 50+ degree day this month. I see the streams beginning to open and the lakes starting to show their ice. It won't be long and the trees will begin to bud again. This is my favorite time of the year, when all things begin to renew.

As we begin preparations for spring spearing I am concerned over the number of pounds available to the Band for harvest. Last year we were not able to harvest as the ice did not cooperate with us. This year the number of pounds available is going to limit our harvest again in the 1837 treaty area so we are looking to expand the harvest opportunity by using some lakes in the 1854 treaty area. It is a little harder to coordinate the harvest in the 54' as the ice does not melt quite as early as it does in the 37'. Keep an eye on the FDL website for up to date information.

There are going to be several major construction projects happening over the next year. The first one is the expansion of the Center for American Indian Resources (CAIR). The need for a major overhaul of the facilities at our Duluth offices has been there for several years. The property has now been secured and we can now proceed with the expansion. It is going to be a 30,000 square ft. building used to meet the growing needs of clients. The second project is going to be an expansion at the Min No Aya Win to allow for increased services there. These two projects will be funded through the third party revenue generated by our clinics operation.

The last project is going to be a complete renovation of the gaming space for Fond du Lac. For years this space was ignored because of the issues with the payments to the city. Now that we are pretty much at the end of those battles we can begin to address some of the needs in the downtown casino. This project should begin in the next few months and will give the casino an entirely new look and feel. This project will be paid for through gaming revenue.

The last thing that I would like to mention is there has been some movement with the enrollment issue. At the last meeting of the TEC there was a resolution passed asking for a secretarial vote of the members of the Minnesota Chippewa Tribe to consider including all Chippewa blood for an individual when figuring the blood quantum. It is going to be a little more complicated than this and I will keep you informed as the effort moves forward.

If you have any questions or comments please feel free to contact me. My office number is (218)878-8158 or you can e-mail at ferdinandmartineau@fdlrez.com.

In this month's article I would like to speak on the drug issue. I have been in this office for over 2 years now, and during that time the RBC have had meetings about what we can do about the drug epidemic. We've had discussions about how we can utilize our programs, our staff, and our community centers to combat this problem. Much talk went into the prevention aspect of it, and that is good, but as we talk and try to find ways for things to work, our people are slipping farther into the fog of addiction. You can't help but see it every day. I see it in my office, the community centers, the Casino, even just walking down the road. Our people are hurting and the problem is only getting worse. I have friends and family of all ages that are stuck in the grip of addiction, and it breaks my heart. It truly does. Kevin Dupuis and myself have begun to have community meetings to discuss what kind of solutions we can come up with collectively. Our first meeting was held on March 24th at the Cloquet ENP, and we had a good turnout (we will continue to meet monthly). There were discussions and ideas of what we can do as a community (not just the RBC) to try and get a handle on this situation. I won't lie, it's a tough road and nothing is guaranteed, but it's a start. We spoke of a restorative justice program for FDL, a neighborhood watch, and more action by the police. Great ideas, but even great ideas will fail if people are not investing themselves into them. We can come up with a million different programs and strategic plans, but they won't do any good without the community taking part in them. That is why I am throwing this back to you. I am tired of talking and waiting while people lose themselves to this garbage. It's getting worse every day. We need you, the people, to take a stand. I WILL STAND WITH YOU! Start taking pictures and writing down names and plate numbers of dealers in your area and turn them over to law enforcement. Turn them over to me even, and I will see that the PD gets the names. Some of these people are your friends and family, and that is a hard thing to do, but it seems like everything is falling apart and as hard as I try in my position to slow this poison, I feel helpless and useless.

David Tiessen Jr.

There will be a gathering at the Sawyer Center on Saturday, April 18th from 5pm-8pm. This is a gathering I am hoping all of FDL attends (all ages welcome). There will be a drum, drawings for prizes, and a potluck feast, so please bring a dish to share. We will be discussing solutions to the drug problems that we, as a community, can do. PLEASE COME IF YOU CAN!!!

In closing, I would just like to speak of my personal feelings on drugs. I hate this garbage. I hate it more than anything else in this world. I am not a person who has hate in their heart, but what is going on has made me a bitter person towards drugs. It is not something I am used to. I am filled with anger and despair about what has happened to our people, and I will no longer sit idly by and wait for some program or grant to magically fix this. I will spend the rest of my time doing anything and everything that I can to rid this filth from our home, and I will need your help to do it. If you are as sick of this as I am, please, make a stand with me.

Hello All

I would like to congratulate all of our Ojibwe school athletes on their successes this year. Our boys basketball team had once again earned their way to the state tournament. I was able to attend their section championship game. I watched as Cameron Thompson sank three pointers, Dexter DeLille and Jordan Diver dribble effortlessly around opponents and the team snatched many rebounds. I also attended their quarterfinal game at the State tournament in the Twin Cities. Unfortunately, they did not come out on top on the scoreboard but they sure represented FDL with a sense of pride. I was impressed with not only the teams play but also the sportsmanship and respect they displayed before, during, and after the games. Nice job team! We are all proud you and of all our athletes, as well as the school staff, for the education you have provided to the students and the community.

Wally Dupuis

Our Cloquet Community Center has a new manager, Donna Ennis. Donna has been working with the community center staff organizing and implementing programs and activities while learning her new position. Sandra Savage and Cheri Koslowski, as well as the rest of the staff, have been very helpful in this transition. The community center has a full calendar of events with a wide variety of activities for all age groups. They are currently working on the Easter event and are expecting a high volume of participants. Please look up their calendar on their website for a list of activities.

Our natural resources staff is preparing for the spring fishing season and should have the season dates, times, and regulations out soon. Please see the Natural Resources website for updates.

Gaa-miinigooyang Each season provides our community with opportunities to engage in harvest and gathering activities that our relatives and other community members practiced for countless generations. In the spirit of preserving those practices, an example of how the Ojibwe school preserves these circles of seasons is to celebrate zigwan by providing cultural activities for our school and community.

Gikinoo'Imawindwaa Abinoojihinhyag

Our school recently completed a successful accreditation process. This process reviews all aspects of our school and includes among a host of functions, instruction and learning, governance and leadership, and collecting valued perspectives from students, teachers, and community members. Once the data has been compiled a team of on-site reviewers spend a couple of days at our school to see for themselves if what we say we do is what we are doing. This type of comprehensive oversight ensures that the education services we provide to our students are high quality and consistently being improved.

Many of you have been following the success of our boys' and girls' basketball teams and recently our boys' repeated their feat by returning to state to participate in the Minnesota Boys' Basketball Championship. This in itself is a tremendous accomplishment and demonstrates the value of teamwork, determination, and of course what gifted athletes can achieve. We are extremely proud of our young male and female warriors' accomplishments and look forward to supporting them as the promise of another "3 Peat" looms in the future.

The business of school continues to focus on identifying new and more consistent streams of revenue. We have many things in our school that must be maintained and sustained and in a majority of cases that demands secure funding. Providing our students with a balanced curriculum that reflects an education that will help make our students successful in both worlds is influenced by not only dedicated and knowledgeable teachers but also funds to reward them for their loyalty and commitment to our shared mission and vision. Toward this end our joint efforts in working at the state and federal levels to identify and generate these funds continue to look promising. Additional funds are being recommended by leaders at both state and federal levels – whether the accompanying legislative support follows is always a most curious outcome.

As always we extend the opportunity for our community to visit our school and to see the many good things we do. We ask that you, too, get involved in the future of our children. Miigwech.

Boozhoo,

My name is Sharon Belanger and I am the Gifted and Talented Coordinator for the Fond du Lac Ojibwe School.

February is "I Love to Read" month. To generate excitement and interest in reading, the 7th to 12th grade gifted and talented students adapted the book Agate by Joy Morgan Dey and Nikki Johnson. The students transformed the elementary hallway to simulate walking thru the pages of a book. Some students painted the illustrations on big pieces of butcher paper. Other students put the story text onto poster size paper. Middle school students translated the words for many of the animals into Ojibwemowin. They also researched science facts about the gems from the story and added those to the hallway. There is even a display case containing examples of gemstones. High school students conducted guided tours of the

This project incorporated art, reading, writing, science and leadership. The students began planning this project before the winter break and worked very hard to have it completed by the end of January. Also Miigwech to the staff who helped, supported, and encouraged the students as they completed this fantastic endeavor!

Olive Oil

By Kara Stoneburner, RDL, D, Public Health Dietitian

There are so many different types of oils used for cooking that it can be confusing! Here's a breakdown of a few oils (with an emphasis on olive oil) that can be a bit healthier than butter or margarine.

Olive oil contains a healthy dietary fat called monounsaturated fatty acid. Monounsaturated fatty acids and polyunsaturated fatty acids can help improve cholesterol levels and lessen the risk of heart disease. Research is also being conducted that links the possibility that monounsaturated fatty acids may benefit insulin levels and blood sugar control. Despite containing a healthier type of fat, olive oil (and other oils) are high in calories and should be used in moderation. Replacing butter or stick margarine with a monounsaturated or polyunsaturated type oil, like olive oil, would be a healthy option.

Olive oil comes from the fruit of an olive tree. The olive is picked, washed, and crushed to release the oil. That oil then goes through another process to pull any water out. The remaining oil is called olive oil.

The olive oil is tested on its chemical composition and flavor. Extra virgin olive oils maintain a fruity taste and contain higher amounts of nutrients to provide greater health benefits. Extra virgin olive oil contains antioxidants, called polyphenols, which are linked to heart health.

Olive oil should be stored, unopened, in a cool, dark place for up to two years. Once opened, it should be stored away from heat and light, capped tightly and used within a few months.

Because olive oil has a lower smoking point, it tends to work well in salad dressings, sautéing, as a spread or drizzled on steamed vegetables (The smoking point of oil is the point where the oil starts to breakdown and lose its nutritional value and taste, during the cooking process).

Not all olive oil is equal. Be sure to look at the "harvest date" or its "best by" date when purchasing. Olive oil can be expensive so buy only what you think you would use within a few months.

Here are a few healthy oils to have on hand:

- Extra virgin olive oil contains antioxidants. Great for grilling, sautéing, spreads for breads, salad dressings, roasting and adding to rice or pasta dishes
- Canola oil contains few antioxidants, has a longer shelf-life and can withstand higher temperatures. Canola oil can be used in salad dressings, roasting, baking, frying, marinating and sautéing
- Walnut oil has a shorter shelf life and can be stored in the refrigerator for up to 3 months, contains a nutty flavor and omega-3's, works well in salad dressings and some baked goods
- Peanut oil contains heart healthy phytosterols and is great for cooking over high heat.

Wondering how to tell what kind of oil you have?

Saturated fats- such as butter, lard and shortening, are solid at room temperature. Use less saturated fats (and Trans fats) for a healthier lifestyle.

Monounsaturated fats- like olive and peanut oils, will be liquid at room temperature, but could get semi-solid or cloudy when placed in the refrigerator.

Polyunsaturated fats- like canola, sunflower and walnut, will always remain a liquid, even if refrigerated.

Smoke Free Homes

The Minnesota Adult Tobacco Survey (MATS) is a major research project examining tobacco use conducted by ClearWay Minnesota and the Minnesota Department of Health. The survey interviewed more than 9,000 Minnesotans by telephone in 2014. The findings from MATS 2014 indicate that more Minnesotans are making their homes smoke-free; the percentage of Minnesotans with smoke-free home rules has increased to 89.3 percent; and 61.4 percent of smokers now have smoke-free home rules.

Kids are particularly susceptible to the risks of secondhand smoke, and requiring smoke-free environments for foster homes has been an overdue step in Minnesota. Research shows that secondhand smoke exposure is a known cause of Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS), potentially fatal respiratory infections, frequent and severe asthma attacks and frequent ear infections. Children in foster care also are more likely to have pre-existing medical conditions.

Fortunately, in 2014 a new law was passed that adds a smoke-free environment to the list of requirements for foster homes. Nearly 8,000 of Minnesota's most vulnerable children will now have protections against the harmful effects of secondhand smoke. ClearWay Minnesota is working with local communities to aid in implementing the new law.

Participant Success Story

Evelyn Christensen completed the Fond du Lac Diabetes Prevention Program in 2013.

Why did you join the Fond du Lac Diabetes Prevention Program?

To keep informed with the newest information on diabetes prevention.

What changes have you made in your lifestyle to prevent diabetes?

Diet & eating habits.

What motivates you to keep going?

Trying to maintain a healthy weight. Exercise on Wednesdays at the Washington Center in Duluth (near CAIR).

What did you accomplish in the program that you are most proud of?

Keeping my weight stable and exercising daily.

How has the program been supportive?

Being with the people who also have the same problem.

What advice would you give others trying to make healthy changes in their lives?

Remember a little exercise everyday counts!

WIC Program

Women, Infants and Children Nutrition Program (WIC) is a supplemental nutrition program that offers tips and advice to help families eat well and stay healthy. It does not provide all of your food needs for the month.

The WIC program provides:

- Nutrition education
- One-on-one counseling about nutrition
- Vouchers to buy food (Range between $35.00 - $190.00/month)
- Support and help with breastfeeding
- Referrals to health care, immunizations, and other programs.

Who is WIC for?

- Women who are pregnant, breastfeeding, or who recently had a baby
- Infants from birth to 1 year of age
- Children from 1 year of age to their 5th birthday.

To qualify for WIC you need to have a nutritional and/or medical need and meet the WIC income guidelines. All WIC participants must have an initial appointment to determine eligibility for WIC. For example, a family of 3 making $36,612.00 or less a year would qualify.

Contact the WIC office for further information on WIC Laura Garza, PHN, CLC: MNAW (218) 878-2147 or CAIR (218) 279-4135. Kara Stoneburner, RDL, CLS: MNAW (218) 878-2183 or CAIR (218) 279-4060.

Burials of the Ojibwa – Neiashi Part Three

The S Curve, Franklin Square & Life Saving Station Area

Research by Christine Carlson

Duluth Minnesotian of January 8, 1870
The Maplewood Cemetery Association which will immediately lay out and improve a cemetery eighty acres in extent. In short, sir, we are permanent residents of Duluth and propose to make it civilized and habitable.

Maplewood Cemetery – January 8, 1870

I surmise from the above quote “improve a cemetery” that there already was a cemetery there and most likely for the Ojibwa. There was an open maple tree grove interspersed with birch. It was on the brow of a bluff about 500 feet above the lake with a fine view. A lively brook of Chief Buffalos ran through the cemetery tract. This is one of the things Chief Buffalo wanted to protect and preserve in the Treaty of 1854 – the sacred burial grounds of his people.

Anna Thomas Paper Found at the Superior Library

The principal burial ground was across the canal, just where the life-saving station now stands, and with the constant shifting of the sands from the heavy winds, many of the caskets were uncovered.

Graves

In passing back and forth to school, we had to pass directly through the graveyard. The grave that attracted us most was that of an Indian Chief. We would lift the small house off and gaze with admiration at the beautifully beaded breast-piece, his war paint and feathers, and pipe and tobacco were placed in the casket with him. The caskets, most of them rough board boxes, were worn and rolled away, many of them were crushed in by cows walking over them. Several of the bodies were exposed and easily recognizable, and a few had been friends and acquaintances of former days.

The city finally ordered the bodies removed. As they dug the caskets up they were piled on the beach until they had sufficient to fill a scow, then a tug and scow would come through the canal into the lake and the caskets removed to the scow. During the process a severe storm came up and the boat and scow could not get over for several days. The caskets were piled on the beach waiting and it was a gruesome sight for those who had to pass that way. They were finally removed and buried in the new cemetery at Thirteenth Avenue East and fourth Street, and everyone thought they had been taken to their final burial place but after a few years they were again removed to Forest Hill.

Superior Times – May 5, 1883

Yesterday afternoon while a Herald reporter was down on Park Point looking up ghosts, he considered that the next most appropriate thing to be done was to visit that grave yard down there. It is simply a shocking condition. The grave yard is situated on the street below Sargent’s big house, where they report ghosts. (In 1869 Sargent’s lived on 1027 Lake Avenue South.) There are probably thirty or forty mounds, indicating that persons have been buried there, are five or six coffins scattered around above the ground, some of these have been broken open, and the bones of the corpses scattered over the ground. The covers are off nearly all of them and the sand has drifted in. It is a shame to allow this sort of thing to exist in a Christian community, and it is to be hoped that some person will take the trouble to go down there and decently bury them. If such a thing could happen as spirits coming back to the mundane sphere, it would be those of the men whose remains are left in such an exposed and disgraceful condition.—Duluth Herald 28th ult.

Duluth Daily News of July 25, 1883

The remains of twelve corpses were removed from the old Minnesota Point burying ground Monday, and more were taken out yesterday. There were about 400 graves there, but all of them will not be removed.

The City News – Duluth News Tribune of August 1, 1883

It is said that there is a young physician and surgeon in this city who is very anxious to obtain possession of one of the bodies buried on Minnesota Point.

Doras Martin Civil War Veteran from New York

Doras Martin at age 68 was the first volunteer to enlist in Duluth. He lived on Park Point and died in 1867. He was buried in the old Indian Cemetery at Park Point which was later occupied by the Duluth Life Saving Station. The city of Duluth gave a warranty deed for the life saving property on July 29, 1890.

Paper on Cemeteries – Duluth Public Library

There seems to be no record as to the origin of the old Park Point cemetery. There are some indications that it started largely as an Indian cemetery and was then used by the whites.

Minnesota Point Once a Cemetery Says City Pioneer – Duluth News Tribune of July 27, 1914

When I first came to Duluth over 42 years ago, we used to bury people over there on Minnesota Point and then we couldn’t find them again, said W. H. Eddy, a well known business man of St. Paul, the other day while on his first visit to Duluth since he left the city in 1874. This practice did not last very long, however, and the burying place was changed to a location up on the hill.

While Mr. Eddy was in Duluth he visited his old friend, Bernard Silberstein. According to the latter, the burying ground on Minnesota Point is about where the life-saving station is now. Not very many people were buried there before the institution of the old burying ground at Fourteenth avenue East and Fourth street. This latter served the city for many years and was replaced by Forest Hill cemetery.

Dig Up Bodies on Home Plot – August 12, 1912

The digging up of three bodies in quick succession Saturday by workmen who were excavating for the foundation of a house near Thirteenth avenue East and Fifth street gave evidence of the fact that the work of removing the old cemetery in that vicinity was far from thoroughly done. The bodies were discovered in the space to be occupied by a single basement.

The place where the bodies were found is about the center of where the old Forest Hill cemetery was located. This cemetery was ordered moved about 24 years ago, and the following four years, the bodies from the old cemetery location were moved to its present site in Woodland.

The old cemetery occupied several blocks in the vicinity of Thirteenth avenue East above Fourth street. At the time the bodies were removed it was believed that all had been taken away.

Several Removals

This research has been quite an education. Some of the graves were moved from the S curve area on Minnesota Point/ Neiashi to 13th Avenue East and 4th and 5th Street which was the old Forest Hill Cemetery. Then they were moved to the new Forest Hill Cemetery in Woodland.

Introducing the new garden coordinator Bruce Savage

An excerpt from the Ojibwe Garden Program wordpress blog:

As of the first of the year I started working for Fond du Lac Tribal College as the new Agriculture Extension Coordinator. In this position I will be available to help any community members gain access to any information on food production. I will try my best to find resources that would enable community members to start following through with their interest in growing and raising their own food. For the first year we will be hosting some workshops on garden planning, raising starter plants, soil health and other practices in food production.

It's still the middle of winter despite what our recently warm weather would have us believe. The warmth of spring is still far off, and food caches are beginning to dwindle. As the winter winds howl, we turn to the ice for food. The lakes, rivers, and streams hold an abundance of food. This is the time to replenish food stocks and get ready for the coming maple syrup season. Soon it will be time to head into the sugarbush to tap the maple trees.

Bimaaji'idiwin is beginning to make preparations for the coming season. We are seeking out producers in our community, obtaining seed stock, and getting the materials ready to begin seedlings. There are also two internships available with Bimaaji'idiwin. Stay tuned to the blog for more information about upcoming workshops and internships.

My office is in the Resource Management Building on the 2nd floor. You can also reach me at (218) 878-7136 or email at bruce savage@fdlrez.com

Marijuana remains illegal on the Fond du Lac Reservation

By Sean Copeland,
Tribal Attorney

In recent months, the Band has received a lot of questions about marijuana legalization. At this time, marijuana remains illegal on the Fond du Lac Reservation.

As has been widely reported, the Department of Justice issued a memo last November about marijuana legalization by Indian tribes. Although marijuana remains illegal under the federal controlled substances act, the memo describes what types of marijuana offenses the federal government will focus on prosecuting. If a tribe legalizes marijuana and develops a regulatory system with “robust controls and procedures,” the federal government will focus on prosecuting a limited number of marijuana offenses, such as those involving drug cartels or distribution to children.

Marijuana legalization presents major public policy and business issues for the Band to consider. Although legalization could generate more money for the Band, it could also lead to substance abuse and public safety problems. In addition, since banks will not do business with marijuana producers, legalization could harm the Band’s casinos, which rely on access to banks.

State law may also present a barrier to marijuana legalization. Because Fond du Lac is subject to Public Law 280, the State of Minnesota maintains jurisdiction over criminal offenses. Since the state has legalized some forms of medical marijuana, the state’s marijuana laws may now be viewed as “civil-regulatory” and not subject to state jurisdiction. This issue, however, has not been litigated and would need to be resolved.

If the Reservation Business Committee decides to pursue marijuana legalization, the Band will need to develop a careful legal strategy and a thorough business plan. Although the Band is continuing to review legalization issues, the RBC has not directed that any specific action be taken. The RBC has indicated that it is interested in hearing Band members’ views about legalization.

In the future, Band members may be able to take advantage of the state’s medical marijuana law. The law will make medical marijuana available in pill or oil form to patients with a limited number of qualifying conditions. Patients will need to qualify for a state-run patient registry and re-certify on an annual basis. Medical marijuana will only be available at eight dispensaries throughout the state and no dispensaries are expected to be located on the Fond du Lac Reservation.

Again, it is important to emphasize that marijuana remains illegal on the Fond du Lac Reservation. Until that changes, individuals who produce, sell, or possess marijuana on the Reservation will continue to face serious legal consequences.

Plans for Spring 2015 Ceded Territory Spearing

As Fond du Lac prepares for ice-out fishing plans, Band members need to be aware of the many changes on the horizon.

First of all, there will be NO netting again this spring in Mille Lacs Lake. The Mille Lacs Lake walleye population is at an all-time low. Safe harvest limits on Mille Lacs were set at extra-conservative low levels, to help with future recovery efforts. Thus, with such low allocations, there will not be enough walleye available for netting. In fact, as of this writing, the Wisconsin Bands have all released their allocations to the Mille Lacs Band, and will not be exercising rights on the big water this spring. So it will only be Fond du Lac and the Mille Lacs Bands there this spring.

The Resource Management Division (RMD) is working to provide opportunity for Band members who are still interested in harvesting fish this spring. There will be spearing opportunities for walleyes and other fish, in both 1837 and 1854 ceded territories. New for 2015 will be a provision allowing for limited netting in some of the 1837 ceded territory lakes, other than Mille Lacs. These lakes are all over 1000 acres. There may only be 8 to 12 netting permits available for the entire season. Additional details will be available closer to Apr. 1. Please continue to visit the Fond du Lac website, where specifics will be made available as the details are worked out (www.fdlrez.com).

In the meantime, FDLRMD will start maintaining a sign-up list for individuals interested in spearing this spring. There will be some kind of drawing for spearing permits. Likely we will be on smaller lakes where not everyone will be able to participate at the same time or on the same night. By creating a list of interested Band members, FDLRMD staff will be able to notify folks as their "number" comes up, and give spearees up to 24-hour notice when and where they will be able to spear.

FDLRMD will require Band members to begin signing up for permits. The easiest way to sign up will be to go online to www.fdlrez.com, and click on the link to fill out the brief sign up form. You may also sign up by calling FDLRMD during normal business hours (218) 878-7101 (M-F, 8 a.m. – 4:30 p.m.).

Decisions regarding the details will be released as soon as that information is available. Please stay informed at the FDL website, where details will be posted.

Thank you for your patience as we forge ahead for 2015.

2015 Gitigaan Program

Class sessions will be held at the Fond du Lac Tribal Center in the Cloquet Community Center. The first class participants will receive a Garden Journal. The classes will last for 10 weeks on Tuesday evening's beginning: Mar. 31. Meals will be served at 5:30 p.m., class begins at 6 p.m.

Class Dates

Apr. 7, Apr. 14, Apr. 21, Apr. 28, May 5, May 12, May 19, May 26, and June 2

Gitigaan is having a 2015 Kick-Off Survey to learn what topics participants are interested in learning about this year. The survey will be available on the Fond du Lac Website www.fdlrez.com.

If you are interested in signing up to get your garden tilled or have any questions regarding the Gitigaan Program please contact Cassie Diver at (218) 878-7502 or cassiediver@fdlrez.com.

Please have garden clearly marked for tilling. Clean out any and all twine, wire, and corn-stalks; these items get tangled in the tiller causing breakdowns.

Child Abuse Prevention Activities

Fond du Lac will once again be hosting a Child Abuse Prevention in April. These activities are sponsored by the Fond du Lac Human Services Division and include the following:

Family Pictures

- Families can get their photos taken at the community center sites and within a few weeks they will receive a free 8 x 10 sized photo free. A local photographer will be taking the pictures.

April 7 – Cloquet Community Center @ 5-7 p.m.

April 14 – Brookston Community Center @ 5-7 p.m.

April 21 – Sawyer Community Center @ 5-7 p.m.

Walk/Brunch

- A community walk and brunch will be taking place at the Fond du Lac Head Start gym on April 18 with registration beginning at 9:30 a.m., walk to occur at 10 a.m., and brunch is set for 11 a.m.

If there are any questions, please contact Cindy Pattison, Social Services Department Assistant Administrator (218) 878-2149.

Anishinaabemowin Kick-off, well-attended

By Janis Fairbanks,
Anishinaabemowin
Coordinator

Community members of all ages attended the March 7 Language Kick-off event at the Fond du Lac Ojibwe School. Those who registered and took part in language table activities were eligible for prize drawings, with many prizes being awarded.

The book Dibaajimowinan: Anishinaabe Stories of Culture and Respect, published by Great Lakes Indian Fish & Wildlife Commission, is a bi-lingual collection of stories read by fluent elders on the disc that comes with the book. Response was enthusiastic for the book, which is an excellent learning tool. A number of The Concise Dictionary of Minnesota Ojibwe by Nichols and Nyholm, were also awarded to lucky prize winners. Both books are very helpful to new learners and a good resource of review for more experienced language speakers.

While not everyone signed in, the number of questionnaires returned indicates that approximately 216 people attended. That number closely matches the number of language program tee-shirts distributed during the event.

As the questionnaires are being tabulated and summarized, plans are going forward to offer language tables in both Sawyer and Brookston, according to what the folks in those two districts wish to see. The language table at the Cloquet Community Center operates every Wednesday night from 4:30 to 8 p.m. and is open to all age groups and all learning levels from all areas of Fond du Lac. The gathering is potluck so bring a dish to pass.

Keynote speakers Leslie Harper, Briane McInnes, and special guest Waasabiik Anna Gibbs delivered inspirational messages, along with local language activists Rick Gresczyk, Dan Jones, and Amik Larry Smallwood. Students from the FDL Ojibwe School demonstrated their language apps and activities at other language tables.

In other language news, the summer language camp at the Kiwenz Campground has been set for June 17 to 21. Volunteers for that camp can send me their names and what they wish to do at the camp this year. Send your names to janisfairbanks@fdlrez.com

Dry winter could mean spring wildfires

By Erica Whitebird,
Fond du Lac Fire Prevention
Coordinator

Last year the snow didn't stop and this year it never really seemed to start. A dry winter is now turning into a very dry spring. And that may mean we'll have a long and intense wildfire season in the region.

The entire state of Minnesota is now in or near official drought status and the long-range forecasts are predicting more of the same. This winter we received less than 1/2 of the average annual snowfall, and less than 1/3 of the snow we got last year. That lack of snowpack means all the marsh and ditch grasses that are normally flattened by the weight of the snow are standing tall and dry, and the ground will dry out quickly.

What does this mean for us at Fond du Lac? This spring can bring us higher fire danger than we've seen in the last two winters. We could see some wildfire holdover over from winter or early spring burning. So if you burned a brush pile this past winter or early spring give it a check on a warm day and make sure there's no residual heat. Fond du Lac Forestry has seen brush piles rekindle and take off on hot, dry, windy days in the spring. If you do find heat get some water on the pile and mix dirt into that hot spot.

Prevention is the key to reducing the number of human-caused fires—one of the most important goals for the FDL forestry. Recent record setting temperatures, combined with wind and dry ground has already pushed the fire danger levels to "very high" and the season is only just beginning. Every day without rain will push the fire danger up, with warmer, sunny, windy days the most problematic. This won't change until we get more rain, and the fields, marshes, and woods start to green up several weeks from now. A lot can happen in the meantime.

As the snow melts, biboon (winter) fades, and last year's brown grass and leaves are exposed, we must all keep fire safety in the back of our minds.

Did you know:

- 99% of wildfires in Minnesota are caused by people, and most of those fires are accidental
- Every year wildfires in Minnesota damage forest resources or people's homes, cabins, and recreation areas
- Anytime there is less than 3 inches of snow cover on the ground you may need a burning permit
- You need a burning permit for non-recreational or non-ceremonial fires larger than 3 feet in diameter
- FDL Band members can obtain a burning permit from the FDL Resource Management Office at no cost?

Burn Permits are issued to assure that burning of appropriate materials is done in a safe manner, when weather conditions are appropriate, and that fire personnel know where fires are occurring.

You may burn vegetative materials, such as grass, leaves, brush, and untreated and unpainted lumber, although composting these items is generally a better option as it will make rich soil instead of black smoke. All other materials should be properly disposed. You may call the FDL Waste Management Office for more information regarding proper garbage disposal or recycling.

There are several kinds of things that should never be burned. They emit toxic chemicals into the air when burned and can leech toxins into ground water, too. These items should be brought to the FDL Waste Management Area.

Items include chemically treated lumber, railroad ties, telephone poles, plastic pesticide or herbicide containers, plastic liners in seed, feed, or pesticide bags, tar paper, shingles, or other asphalt materials, insulation, composition board or sheet rock, hazardous waste (including household hazardous waste), paint or paint filters, used motor oil or other petroleum-based liquids, vehicles, motors, or parts of vehicles, or motors, tires, rubber, or rubber compounds.

Fires requiring a permit usually must not be lit until after 6 p.m. and must be out by 8 a.m. the following day. Daytime fires are generally not allowed unless an exception is explicitly made on the permit.

For more information please call Fond du Lac Resource Management during regular business hours, M-F 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. at (218) 878-7101. Thank you and be safe.

Scholarship Division: students and potential students

Its spring house cleaning and time to update your school applications. Please get your 2015/16 Fond du Lac Scholarship Applications completed as soon as possible. When you or your parents have completed your 2014 income taxes you can start to apply for fall funding.

The Scholarship Program requires all students to apply and utilize other funding sources before any Band resources can be used. There are two funding sources we require all students to apply for annually. These websites are now available to complete your 2015/2016 applications. If you would like or need assistance, we have a secure computer workstation for students and are also here to assist you with the applications.

- The applications all students need to complete is the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) located at www.fafsa.gov
- Students attending Minnesota schools need to apply for the Minnesota Indian Scholarship Program (MISP) at www.ohs.state.mn.us apply before July 1.

ATTENTION: Make sure you have the right website for the FAFSA, there is a website that fools students into paying for this application. Don't ever pay to complete this application, it's free! FAFSA name means Free Application for Federal Student Aid.

If you have been thinking about returning to college but have student debt or are currently in default on student loans, we may be able to assist you with getting back on track and becoming eligible for financial aid.

We are fortunate to have a Scholarship Program and the resources to assist our Band members in achieving their career goals. We are always available to discuss your options or answer any questions.

You're only an application away from starting school and/or training. I look forward to hearing from any Band member interested in furthering their education and/or training.

Patty Petite, Ed.D - Scholarship Director (218) 878-2633 pattypetite@fdlrez.com or Veronica Smith - Scholarship Assistant (218) 878-2681 veronicasmith@fdlrez.com.

Ojibwe Immersion Program

Misaabekong Ojibwe Immersion Program is now taking applications. The Misaabekong Ojibwe Immersion Program is designed to enrich the education of students by teaching them all of their core academic subjects in Ojibwemowin and developing appreciation of their own and other cultures.

School begins Sept. 8 7:45 a.m. to 2:15 p.m. at Lowell Elementary School.

Bus transportation is provided for students in the Lowell or Myers-Wilkins attendance areas, otherwise transportation is the responsibility of families.

To apply or for more information contact Edye Howes, Coordinator of American Indian Education for ISD 709, at (218) 336-8700 ext. 1152.

FDL Head Start

The FDL Head Start teachers and staff want to meet you and your child. The Head Start round up will be Apr. 15 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Head Start gym. There will be tables set up for parents to get assistance in filling out an application if they choose.

Other events at the round up include:

- Child care will be provided for parents
- A snack will also be provided in the gym
- Parents will get to see what a typical day at Head Start is like for your child
- Your child will be able to see what a Head Start classroom is like
- There will be a tour of the bus for you and your child. Please RSVP by Apr. 13 by 1 p.m. so we have enough food and people providing child care. Please let us show you what a quality education your child will receive in our Head Start program at Fond du Lac Head Start.

Obituary

Viola "Gabby" Elizabeth (Northrup) Foldesi, 75, of Duluth passed away Thursday, March 5, 2015 surrounded by loved ones at St. Luke's Hospital. She was born April 11, 1939 in Cloquet, MN to Sylvester and Charlotte (Diver) Northrup. She was an enrolled member of the Fond du Lac Band of Lake Superior Chippewa and was a great advocate for the Native American people and the community. Viola enjoyed visiting with family and friends at Pow Wow's and Enrollee day. Every year, she looked forward to working the elder Christmas party at Fond du Lac, typically dressing as an elf, which not only brought smiles to everyone but also gave her the opportunity to show off her smile, which she was well known for.

Viola was involved in her family member's lives in more ways than one. She would spend many hours telling stories about how she grew up and all of the fun she had at the Soda Shop and dancing, she enjoyed shopping for her family members and anticipated the look on their faces when they would open their gifts; and no matter who she met, she embraced them as if they were a member of her own family. She enjoyed spending time with her family, whether it was the annual 4th of July celebration or weekly Sunday dinners. She never missed a birthday and would take the opportunity to call each family member and sing to them first thing in the morning on their special day. Viola took great pride in her children and grandchildren and was not only their biggest supporter, but also their biggest cheerleader. While investing so much time and effort into her family, she passed on the most important thing: how to treat people with dignity and respect, especially those who were less fortunate than others.

Viola will be remembered for showing everyone unconditional love, support, and passing on her wisdom. She will be greatly missed, but her legacy lives on and her love of life will be celebrated for years to come.

Viola was preceded in death by her parents, Sylvester C. Northrup and Charlotte J. Diver-Northrup; and sister, Clara "Dooksie" Skoglund.

She is survived by her loving husband of 53 years, Thomas R. Foldesi Sr.; six children, Richard, Bruce (Sharon), Tina (James), Ruth (Tim), Tammy (Carl), Thomas Jr. (Amy); eight grandchildren, Jamie (Andrew), Brennin (Jon), Joey (Elissa), Cassandra (Andy), Elizabeth, Jimmy (Natalie), Abby, and Mikey; two great-grandchildren, Gabriel and Michael; two brothers, Darwin Bishop and Les Northrup; and too many nieces, nephews, and cousins to name, but she loved them all.

The family would like to send a special thanks you to St. Luke's hospital staff, specifically the Hospice staff. Dr. Turner, Viola loved you very much, thank you for taking such great care of her over the years. Also to the family members who provided the meal, Mike Lind, Loretta Erickson, Pat Diver, Sonya Skoglund, Dean and Kim Bishop, and Guy

Bishop.

Dennis William Olson, Sr., 72, of Cloquet passed away on Sunday, March 1, 2015 in his home with his loving family by his side.

He was born Aug. 12, 1942 in Cloquet to Clarence and Beatrice Olson.

He grew up in Sawyer and graduated from Carlton High School in 1960.

Dennis moved to Washington in the mid 1960's and had his own roofing company, Roofing Contractors. In 1972 he returned to Cloquet and worked as the Indian Liaison for the Carlton High School for two years. On April 16, 1977 he married Dorothy Danielson in Duluth. He worked many construction jobs both in roofing and general construction. He taught the Carpentry Apprentice Program at Fond du Lac through the Staples Community College Extension Program. Dennis was the Executive Director of Fond du Lac Reservation from 1981 until 1985. He then worked as the Planning Director for Fond du Lac until 1992 at which time he went to work as a finish carpenter for Billman's Construction. From 1992 until 1994 he owned Hot Corner Sports Cards in East Duluth. Dennis returned to Fond du Lac as the Construction Manager in 1994 and was instrumental in much of the development on the reservation. He retired in 2008.

Dennis was an enrolled member of the Fond du Lac Band of the Lake Superior Chippewa and was a member of Holy Family Catholic Church, Cloquet

He was preceded in death by his sister, Linda Erickson; and brother, Roy Welsand.

Dennis is survived and will be dearly missed by his wife of 37 years, Dorothy Marie Olson; children, Melissa (Jerry Schleret) Wallace of Ft. Meyers, Fla., Gregory Scott (Crystal Angell) Olson of Cloquet, Dawn Marie (Russell) Dumes of Palmetto, Louisiana, Denise Ann Marie (Darren Johnson) Olson of Cloquet, and Dennis William (Shauna Coons) Olson, Jr. of Elk River; brothers, Robert and Darrell Welsand both of Cloquet; sisters, Carol Johnson of Washington, Diane Welsand of Cloquet, Judy DeMuth of Brookston, Debra Erickson of Cloquet, Victoria Macham of Cloquet and LuAnn Thompson of Cloquet; 11 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Daniel J "Dan" Cadotte, passed away after a courageous battle Sunday, February 22, 2015. Age 64.

Father of Mary, Donna, Katie and Jason.

Further survived by his brother Dennis, grandchildren, nieces, nephews other relatives and friends.

"You will always be loved"

Frederick Pellerin, 92 of Cloquet, passed away peacefully on March 15, 2015 surrounded by his family. He was born on January 5, 1923 in Cloquet to Fred and Alice (Colburn) Pellerin.

Frederick was a retired welder and during his retirement he was a security guard at Black Bear Casino.

He was preceded in death by his children Wayne Peterson and Shirley Duncan; parents; grandsons Dustin and Noah Peterson; brothers Harvey, Raymond and Amos and sister Margaret. Frederick is survived by his wife Doris "Wanda"; daughters Carolyn Lowrance, Bobbie Sue Henson and Nancy Seppala; sons Scott and Danny Peterson; grandchildren Noah "Brian", Jessica, Matthew, Daniel, Leah, Casey and Jacob; great-grandchildren Gabe, Winter and Marco; siblings Marvin and Rosella Buttenhoff; many nieces, nephews and other relatives.

Marc Lewis Peterson, 51, of Cloquet, passed away on March 9, 2015. He was born on June 27, 1963 to Muriel Sharlow. From the Bear Clan, Marc had a fun loving and laid back attitude. He loved science fiction shows and movies, gaming, his dog Penny and shopping at his favorite stores. He was a night owl who also loved to camp and go fishing. Marc was especially close to his mom, Muriel, and his aunt Marie "Margee", who passed away in recent years. Marc had complications of kidney disease and diabetes beginning at an early age. Despite his physical challenges he tried his best to be upbeat and positive.

Marc was preceded in death by his mother Muriel Sharlow; maternal grandparents, Harriet Livingston Nelson and Gus Sharlow Sr.; special aunt Marie "Margee" Reed, special uncle Allen Sharlow; other uncles and extended family members. Marc is survived by his brother Marlin Peterson and niece Bianca Gutowski; his second mom Sharon Enjady; also many cousins and other relatives. Marc also has relatives at Red Lake and Lac Courte Oreilles.

Traditional wake and funeral services were conducted by Michael Dahl at the Brookston Center. Internment was at the Old Family Cemetery in Cloquet. Pallbearers were John "Jack" Sharlow Jr., Dewey Sam, John Ogden, Christopher Sharlow, Randy Jacobson, Leon Goodsky and Duane Graciano.

The family would like to say Miigwech to the following people who helped prior to Marc's passing and the week of the services: First and foremost the excellent CHR Nurses who provided care, support and transportation to Marc. Also thank you to Michael Dahl, Sharon Enjady, Ferdinand Martineau Jr., Kevin Dupuis Sr., Rica Decoteau and Family, Julia Reynolds, Jim and Deb Malley, Vicki Reynolds and Family, Violet Reynolds, Dewey Sam, Jerry Reynolds, Alvin Reynolds, Sherry Couture, Corrine Decoteau, Wanda Northrup, Charlie "Tuna" Nahgahnub, Greg Barrett, Michele Fairbanks, Lisa Decory, FDL Police Department, Carlton County Social Services and Tim Handevitd and Handevitd Funeral Home.

Danielson Family Reunion

The children of Burton and Ella are planning a family reunion to take place on July 5, at Volunteer Park in downtown Cloquet from 11:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

All Danielson's and extended family and friends are welcome. This will be a potluck style informal gathering. Please make plans to attend if you can.

You can contact me, Ric Danielson, at my email address ricdanielson@comcast.net for more information. As the date gets closer I will have more news.
