State of the Band

By Zachary N. Dunaiski

Another year has come and gone, and one of the biggest staples of the early year is the State of the Band address. The Black Bear's Otter Creek event center housed a crowd of Band members who came and listened to Chairwoman Karen Diver and Secretary and Treasurer Ferdinand Martineau speak about the state of the Band as we continue through 2013.

As it did a year earlier, this State of the Band address got off to a sad start, honoring Sandra Shabish for her service and dedication to the Band.

Chairwoman Diver spoke on many different topics, but the biggest that she touched on was once again the Fond du Luth case with the city of Duluth. The chairwoman informed the crowd that the city of Duluth's appeal to have the case heard by the panel of judges is, "DENIED, in all capital letters," as Chairwoman Diver put it. Now the only option moving forward for the city of Duluth would be to go to the Supreme Court, but beforehand the case still has to go back to the District Court.

"Supreme Court might be an option, but generally the Supreme Court only accepts cases that have national policy implications. They're not interested in contract disputes that don't have legs and implications for other people," Chairwoman Diver stated during her State of the Band address.

"Donnie Ness has been very clear in talking about the Band and saying we haven't been to the table. I assure you that that is absolutely a lie. In fact the only two times that we talked across the table was at the request of the Fond du Lac Band," Diver said.

After moving on from the Fond du Luth case, Diver brought up another of the Band's long term goals (not scheduled for 2013), which is to get the forestry center land back. The chairwoman stated that we're not quite ready to make it a goal for this year, but just wanted it mentioned.

"The forestry center was one of the biggest and most atrocious land grabs within our borders and we're not going to let them [make it a place] that nobody can even drive through," Diver said.

The chairwoman then went on to speak about exclusions, informing everyone that it's not an easy decision to make, and referring to it as "among the toughest decisions that we make as a Tribal Council," and adding that it's a safety issue.

"We like to remind people that the exclusion ordinance isn't meant to punish the person who did the thing. It is about protecting the rest of us. We view the exclusion ordinance as somewhat like a giant order of protection... there is some duty to provide protection for the rest of us."

The last major topic that was brought up at the State of the Band was the walking trail and major road work scheduled on Big Lake road planned for this summer. Originally this was addressed at last year's State of the Band address, but the floods on June 20 delayed that project as there were safety and emergency road projects that needed to be taken care of first. The bike/walking path (as well as turn lanes on Big Lake Rd.) is back on the schedule for 2013.

Chairwoman Diver also spoke about the flood damage, road work, the bridge that will be built on Reservation Rd., the radio stations purchased and the equipment and benefits that come with it, Veteran's housing coming in early summer, treaties for hunting and fishing in Wisc. as well as the wolf hunt, the language immersion camp, the new waterline, the different forms of communication to get out information, the economic impact study, the bi-lingual sign project, public safety and adding more officers, use/abuse of prescriptions drugs, Tagwii, activities for the youth, land purchase of reservation land, CAIR expansion, and the affordable health care act.

The mission of this publication is to provide the Anishinaabeg community of the Fond du Lac Band of Lake Superior Chippewa, Fond du Lac Reservation, with news and information that will be of help to them in their everyday lives. In addition, our goal will be to highlight many of the honors, accolades, accomplishments and awards that are earned by community members but are mostly overlooked by the mass mainstream media.

It is our hope that through greater information about the activities of our people, this publication can be an instrument of true community. It is not our intention to be a vehicle of divisiveness. To that end, we do not publish editorials, opinion pieces or letters to the editor. There is an abundance of opportunity for the publishing, airing and dissemination of material of personal opinion in other communication vehicles available throughout the area, region and state.

Our mission is to provide for Fond du Lac Anishinaabeg a publication that will not dismiss their culture, heritage, hopes and dreams. We are striving to make this newspaper fill that role.

The students at the Ojibwe school learn a Russian dance.

Russian Spectacular at the Ojibwe school

The Russian music, dance, and song ensemble

Barynya made a stop at the Ojibwe School Feb. 3. They are a world-renowned group known as the premier Russian folk ensemble.

The group performed Russian, Cossack, Ukranian, Jewish, and Gypsy Roma traditional dancing, songs, and virtuoso performances for the school. They played instruments including the balalaika, garmoshka (Russian folk button accordion), and balalaika contrabass.

They performed every dance in different sets of beautiful costumes which were hand-made. At one point a dancer in a bear costume danced with a member of the school staff. Each costume is inspired by the place where the dance originated. Before each dance a short explanation was given about the costumes the dancers wore and how that applies to each culture's uniqueness.

Barynya even taught the kids a few important Russian words, as the students in the audience shouted them back. Some of the words they learned were words like "spasibo" meaning thank you, "pozhaluista" meaning you're welcome, "privet" hello, and "poka" meaning good bye. They also learned to count to ten in Russian. It was an educational and entertaining experience for the school.

Benefit for Myrna Savage

On Sept. 24, 2012 Myrna Savage (wife of Brad) of Sawyer, Minn. was diagnosed with Stage 2 Rectal Cancer. She is currently going through chemotherapy and daily radiation for a total of 5 weeks. When this is completed, she will be having surgery followed by an additional four months of chemotherapy. Her treatment is being done in Duluth. Myrna has been employed as a public health nurse at Fond du Lac; however, she is no longer able to work. Money raised will help with medical expenses.

There will be a spaghetti dinner ($5), silent auction, and homemade egg rolls ($2) on Saturday Mar. 23 from 11 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the Tribal Center ENP. Donations can be made at any Wells Fargo, just mention Myrna Savage Benefit Account.

Transit of the year award

By Zachary N. Dunaiski

Jim Towers has been working for Fond du Lac's Transit department since 1992, and his work 20 years later in 2012 is getting him recognition as employee of the year.

Every school day for Towers starts out by driving to east Duluth to pick up children for school, and driving all the way back to the Ojibwe School.

"My favorite part is that I like to work with kids, I just enjoy my job all the way around. Picking them up in the morning, saying good morning to them, and taking them home," Towers said of his work. He's been a full-time bus driver for the FDL transportation since 2002. And he's been helping out with the shorthanded transit team for the last 6 years.

Towers enjoys taking elementary kids to their basketball games on the weekend, because he enjoys getting to watch them play and have fun.

"And a lot of them I know, and I try to encourage them when they make a basket. I just really like to watch the kids play."

While Towers truly loves his job, something that can be noticed by anyone who sits down and talks with him for even a few minutes, he admits that his job isn't all great.

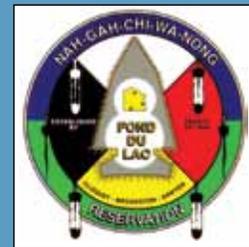

"There are pros and cons to every job and there is with this too, but I really enjoy my job and working with my coworkers. I enjoy my training as well."

For the last year or so, Towers has also been training other drivers. He trains bus drivers and has been doing a little bit of training on the transit side of his job as well. Towers estimates that he's trained in about 5 new drivers in the last 4 months for both transit and school bus drivers.

"With school bus driving, sometimes they ran into a situation where they needed a driver, or they needed somebody to do something and I always volunteered. With transit there were times this summer where they were short handed and really in a bind and I told them I'd help them out. So I would pick up people for work," Towers said of why he thinks he won the award.

"I never say no, I was always willing to help out." It's this great attitude that certainly led to him winning this award. Towers is also one of the drivers who can drive for either transit or the school. He chose to, so he helps out with transit when they need him to fill routes. Towers even occasionally drives for head start.

"I really appreciate getting this employee of the year [award], I really do, and I'm hoping it encourages other people to strive for it," Towers said. He also wanted to thank Dan Lund who hired him.

A few thoughts from RBC members

From the Chairwoman

There are a couple of updates on issues we have updated you on previously. Polymet Mining has a new CEO, Jon Cherry, who has reached out to Fond du Lac, as well as other tribes, about new developments with the operations of the mine. Water quality issues have been a key barrier to Polymet getting their permits. Polymet has informed the Band that they will be putting a reverse osmosis system that will clean the water that is used in production. A second reverse osmosis system is being planned for the water in the tailings basin. Tailings basins hold waste by-products from production and cause environmental issues on their own. Tailings basins usually have liners that hold the waste, and the water that leaks out of the basins has toxins in it. The basin liner that Polymet now plans will collect the water to be treated by a second water treatment system. These are significant concessions for a mining company to make, as well as major financial commitments to cleaner water.

Another issue was requiring the company doing business to have a bond to cover any future issues that may come up environmentally, so that citizens do not have to bear the cost of clean-up. Polymet has resisted that idea, but now has committed to having a financial assurance package that is big enough to cover both future costs, and the cost to administer any clean-up.

Finally, there will be further discussions with Fond du Lac about using our research and expertise in restoring previously degraded wild rice waters. All in all, these decisions by Polymet will have a positive impact on future mining projects because it will be hard for companies to make the arguments that water treatment, financial assurances, and environmental stewardship are too expensive.

Enbridge Energy has begun discussions with the Band about adding one more pipeline to their current right-of-way through the Reservation. Additionally, they may expand the right-of-way to replace an existing line that is getting older. There has been some misinformation out there about this project. First of all, the Tribal Council has not yet decided to move forward with the project. The new pipeline will be bringing oil from the fields in North Dakota. For the pipelines already in the ground, there is no agreement where Fond du Lac controls the amount of product moved through the pipes. As we review the project, we will be looking at multiple factors including the environmental impacts of expanding the existing right-of-ways versus alternative routes. We will keep the community updated as we move along in this process.

Finally, the State of Minnesota has decided to cancel the 2013 moose hunt for state hunters due to declining population. The Band's wildlife biologist, natural resource staff, and the ceded territory committee will be reviewing moose data to make a recommendation to the RBC about the tribal moose hunt. No decisions have been made yet, but the decision will be made in a thoughtful manner that best balances the needs of Band members with the Band's commitment to environmental stewardship.

Boozhoo niiji,

I hope this column finds you in good health and good spirits. We have been dealing with a lot of issues with violence and drugs lately. The result has been exclusion for more than a dozen Band members. They have lost their homes if they were living in a reservation home and they lost their jobs if they were working for us. These decisions have been the most difficult for me and I am sure for the rest of the council. The people are relatives, friends, neighbors, and all Band members. The one thing that makes this decision important though, is the safety of our community. We were asked by the community to adopt these ordinances to protect them and they have stood behind these decisions.

Ferdinand Martineau

There are several questions being asked about spearing and netting on Mille Lacs this spring. We are going to have a season, but our quota is going to be reduced because of some concern about the fish population. The tribal and state biologists who monitor the lake are not sure what the problem is but want to reduce the harvest this year to begin to figure out what is happening. We will be down from 20,000 pounds to 13,000 pounds so if you plan on going make sure you get there early.

The new Sawyer Representative has taken office. His name is David Tiessen Jr. He is eager to listen and learn. He has some huge shoes to fill as Sawyer rep. following Sandy, Butch, Darryl, and Herman. Good luck David and welcome aboard, I look forward to working with you on the issues facing the reservation.

We hope you were able to stop by the convention center for our State of the Band address on Feb. 21. It was open to all Band members and refreshments were served.

I would like to end my column this month with some personal thoughts. I have lived on the reservation in the same general area most of my life. I have seen immense changes take place and have been a part of some of them. I have seen our housing stock grow from 25 units in the '60's to over 300 units today. I have watched our education system grow from an old trailer to a multi-million dollar state of the art building. I have watched our health delivery system become the leader in "Indian Country" in health services. Most every department here has grown into recognized leaders in their field of expertise. I have also watched our drug and violence issues grow. I have searched on my own for years, talked to others, and tried things with little success to combat its expansion. If you have some insight on these problems please let me know.

If you have any questions or comments please feel free to contact me. My office number is (218)878-8158 or you can e-mail at ferdinandmartineau@fdlrez.com.

A few thoughts from RBC members

Sawyer News,

I would like to thank everybody who voted in the elections. I am honored and privileged to have been chosen to represent the district of Sawyer and I am looking forward to making some positive changes in our community as well as the Reservation as a whole.

I would also like to thank the rest of the RBC members and staff in welcoming me with such enthusiasm. It will be great getting to know and work with all of you. I am eager to learn and work with you in every way I can.

I will have a lengthier column in the future after I settle in, but in the meantime feel free to contact me with any ideas, questions, or concerns. I am here to work with the community in bettering ourselves as a people.

You can e-mail me at dave_tiessen@yahoo.com, or call (218)269-9879, or reach me on Facebook at David Tiessen Jr. Again, thank you.

Hello All

Just to update you on our community center activities. On Jan. 19, the band Foreigner played at our convention center. Prior to the concert, the band asked for a choir group to perform with them. As such, our community center staff organized a choir group, called themselves "Storm Crows," held practices, and prepared themselves to sing with the band, Foreigner. Good job Storm Crows. You can view their performance on our FDL web site.

Wally Dupuis

We are offering a number of different activities on a regular basis at the center and each are becoming bigger and better attended. A list of activities schedules are also posted on our website. Please feel free to participate. We are currently planning for the upcoming little league baseball program again this year, as it was a huge success last year.

I have spoken with our planning staff and have learned that they are planning to put a bridge over the washed out Otter Creek on Reservation Rd. It is currently in the first stages of planning and engineering. I think the bridge is the best fix and will be a permanent fix after the damage that occurred last summer in the floods. Also our Planning Division is getting the preliminary drawings and engineering for the walking/biking trail. It was delayed a bit but is currently back in the process for 2013. Again, this will include turn lanes and lights at the intersections of Trettel Lane and Big Lake Rd. as well as, university Rd and Big Lake Rd. I am looking forward to the start of these projects.

As always, please feel free to contact me anytime Work (218) 879-8078 Cell (218) 428-9828 or email wallydupuis@fdlrez.com.

Special election complete, Tiessen takes office

Feb. 11, David Tiessen Jr. was sworn in to the District II (Sawyer) representative seat by his wife Tara Tiessen.

The post was vacated in September when then RBC member Sandra Shabiash passed away. Shabiash took over as the Sawyer Representative in Dec. 2006.

Tiessen won the general election on

Jan. 29 after being one of two finalists from the primary election in Nov. While Tiessen wasn't out in front after the primary election, receiving 33 votes to Russell "Russ" Northrup's 44 votes, he did win the general election receiving 98 votes to Northrup's 69. Tiessen has been willing and ready to help the community from the moment he entered the election process, as he stated in his own candidacy letter.

"The reason I am running for this position is to do something about the drug problem that has been plaguing our reservation and killing our people at a very dramatic rate. There is no surefire way to do this, and it is not a one man job. I realize that it will take a community effort to push these poisons from our reservation, and I am prepared to work my hardest to make this community the best place for this generation and those to come."

In his candidacy letter, Tiessen also spoke about some of the ideas he'd already been speaking to the community about.

"Some are mine, but a lot of them I have received from the community. I believe that if you want to represent the people and be their voice, you have to talk to them and listen to what they have to say. I know that I have the compassion and empathy needed to serve at this position because I can listen to people's concerns without judgment or prejudice. I want what everybody else wants, a good place to live my life and raise my family free of danger. Let me be your voice and let's do this together."

AVANCE second year, first look for many

Did you know the highly successful nationwide parent program called Avance has been in our community for almost two years now?

Avance is a support initiative that has potential for much wider participation in the Fond du Lac community. Help us spread the word about this program that aids parents with young children, so that we can offer assistance to as many potential participants as possible.

The Fond du Lac Band of Lake Superior Chippewa was chosen as recipient of a grant funded by the W.K. Kellogg Foundation to expand on the highly successful forty-year Avance program that has its roots in San Antonio, Texas.

The goal has been to broaden AVANCE's success to other communities across the country. The first year flew by at FDL and the initial graduating class appeared to benefit greatly by the experience.

As the second year continues, the new participants have had a great time this past month with trips to the Duluth Children's Museum and the Great Lakes Aquarium. There are numerous educational opportunities each and every week for parents and children alike as the curriculum strives to unlock potential through effective parent education and support programs.

Please look for sign-up opportunities with AVANCE's third year at FDL that will be coming in the months ahead in preparation for the 2013-2014 session that begins next September and runs for nine months before graduation in May of the following year.

The program is free and transportation is provided at no cost for those that are in need. For further information, call Betty Anderson at (218) 878-8121 or e-mail her at bettyanderson@FDLrez.com.

Health News

Biomonitoring study appointments begin

The biomonitoring study we've been talking about has begun. On Jan. 2, staff at the Community Health Services Department began enrolling people in the Fond du Lac Biomonitoring Study. So far, over 55 people completed the study appointment. Study staff randomly selects people from a list of community members and invites them to take part. If you are chosen, biomonitoring staff from the Community Health Services Department will call to ask if you are interested in participating and if so, will schedule an appointment. The appointment may take up to 1.5 hours to complete.

The biomonitoring study is the result of a partnership between Fond du Lac and the Minnesota Department of Health to conduct a biomonitoring study to determine if people living near contaminated sites may be more exposed to persistent environmental chemicals, including mercury and other metals, polychlorinated biphenyls (PCBs which includes a group of industrial chemicals that are currently banned), and pesticides. Other chemicals of concern found in consumer products, such as perfluorinated compounds (PFCs which is a group of chemicals used in products to resist heat, stains, or moisture), bisphenol A (a chemical found in plastics and food/beverage can linings) and triclosan (a chemical found in consumer and personal care products) will also be measured. In addition to testing blood and urine for environmental chemicals, blood will be tested for hemoglobin A1C and total cholesterol as a health benefit to participants. These results will inform people about their risk for diabetes and cardiovascular disease.

Hemoglobin A1C, blood pressure, and cholesterol results will be mailed to participants a few weeks after the appointment. If levels of mercury, lead, and cadmium are high in some people, they will receive these results quickly as well. The rest of the results will be available in the summer of 2014. If you have questions about your results, FDL biomonitoring study staff, including a public health nurse, will be available to answer your questions. The response from the community has been excellent, but we need your help to complete 500 appointments by Sept. 29, 2013. If you are contacted, please let study staff know as soon as possible if you want to be part of the study. If you have to cancel your appointment, please call the biomonitoring study telephone number (218) 878-2193 so someone else can fill your slot.

If you would like more information about the study go to:

National Nutrition Month

March is National Nutrition Month. The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics has been celebrating National Nutrition Month for 40 years. The theme for 2013 is "Eat Right, Your Way, Every Day." This March, the Academy encourages Americans to return to the basics of healthy eating. The focus is on developing a personalized, healthy eating style that considers the individual's food preferences, lifestyle, culture, and ethnic traditions and health concerns (referenced directly from The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics).

Try to think of just one diet plan that has worked, long-term for you, your neighbor, a friend, a co-worker, and a sibling. There isn't one. Everyone is different with different preferences and situations. By working with a registered dietitian, you can develop a personalized healthy eating plan that follows the 2010 Dietary Guidelines and the MyPlate messages. A registered dietitian can help you incorporate most foods into your healthy eating plan.

Part of this year's National Nutrition Month message includes not only developing a healthy eating plan to fit your tastes but also to fit with certain health conditions you may have. Some examples include:

If you have high blood pressure or heart disease:

- Balance calories and physical activity to manage weight
- Increase fruits, vegetables, whole grains, fat-free or low-fat dairy products
- Consume less salt, fat, and added sugars

Diabetes suggestions include:

- Eat the right amounts of carbohydrates, protein and healthy fats
- Eat meals and snacks regularly
- Keep track of what kinds of food you're eating

Overweight and obesity suggestions include:

- Balance calories taken in with calories used (physical activity)
- Increase fruits, vegetables, beans and whole grains
- Monitor portion sizes

It is not too late to have a goal of becoming a healthier person in 2013. Consult your Health Care Provider for a recommendation and referral to a registered dietitian and a personal trainer. Get moving in the right direction for a lifelong change to a healthier you.

March is Colorectal Cancer Awareness month

American Indians and Alaska Natives and Colorectal cancer

- Colorectal cancer incidence rates for American Indian/Alaska Native women and men are significantly higher than in non-Hispanic whites.
- Most American Indians are less likely than non-Hispanic whites to be screened for colorectal cancer or to be diagnosed with colorectal cancer in its earlier, easier-to-treat stages.
- Death rates and incidence among this population for a number of cancers varies from one geographic region to the next. Colorectal cancer incidence is higher in Alaska and the Northern Plains.

If detected early, colorectal cancer can be more easily and successfully treated.

Colorectal Cancer Prevention

- Be physically active for at least 30 minutes, at least five days a week.
- Maintain a healthy weight.
- Don't smoke. If you do smoke, quit.
- If you drink alcohol, have no more than one drink a day if you're a woman or two drinks a day if you're a man.
- Eat fruits, vegetables, and whole grains to help you get and stay healthy.

- Eat less red meat and cut out processed meat.

Colorectal Cancer Early Detection

If you're at average risk for colorectal cancer, start getting screened at age 50. If you're at higher risk, you may need to start regular screening at an earlier age and be screened more often. If you're older than 75, ask your doctor if you should continue to be screened. The best time to get screened is before you have any symptoms.

Naganab arrived this afternoon; inquired concerning the Indians, their gardens, sugar-camps, etc.

In 1849 Naganab sees the President - The New York Times of June 27, 1897

In 1849 Chief Naganub went to Washington in the interests of his people where he met President Zachary Taylor, and was treated with great respect and consideration.

1850 Census of the Fond du Lac Band

Number 129 is Nah-gonub and he is listed as a sub chief. Listed are 1 man, 1 woman, and 3 children for a total of 5 in the family.

Chief Nagonub from Wisconsin Historical Collections Vol.iii - 1855

Chippewas, especially the chiefs, are Mormons in marriage. Nagonub had four wives, but embracing the Catholic faith, he consent to the order of the priest, who married him to one-his favorite wife-and divorced him from the other three. He had a beautiful little girl of four, and a boy of six years.

The chief, like all his race, had no disinclination to the gambling table. We have seen him, with ten or twelve others-red, half-breed, and white,- in their lodges, around tables-games, brag and poker-stakes on the table, ranging from $10 to $40 or $50.

Pine Knot - Sept. 10, 1892

Chief Naganub came down from the reservation Monday and had his photograph taken. He is 107 years old, blind and feeble. It is hoped he may soon be induced to reveal the location of that silver mine which he has so often referred to, and so often refused to divulge.

Old Naganab Gone- Duluth News Tribune of June 7, 1894

The old chief of the Fond du Lac Indians, Naganab, died on the reservation near Cloquet Tuesday, of old age and general debility. He had been blind for over two years and for the last few months had been confined to his couch, but never had been so enfeebled as not to be able to take an active part in the counsels of his tribe.

In many respects Naganab was a remarkable man. He was closely associated with the fur traders and early settlers of this general region, and while yet a very young man was engaged by Gen. Lewis Cass to assist him in negotiations for peace with the Sioux. These associations enkindled in him a warm regard for the white man, whose friend he has always been. He was well known in Washington from 1840 to 1865, being frequently called there at the invitation of the government to assist in making the treaties which gave to the United States control of all northern Wisconsin and Minnesota. One treaty which he negotiated and signed is of especial interest to Duluthians, inasmuch as it set apart a square mile of territory now occupied by the busiest and wealthiest part of our city. This same square mile has been in litigation for several years in the celebrated Prentice case, which was forever set at rest last week by the supreme court of the United States. The courts have all decided that the description of the land reserved by the treaty was too vague and indefinite and consequently the Indian title could not

Other treaties of special interest negotiated by the aid of Naganab were the one of 1826, under which the Sioux and Chippewa Indians recognized the authority of the United States and the Bois Forte treaty of 1860 by which the Indians ceded to the government the lands now comprising the Vermillion and Mesaba iron ranges.

Chief Naganab had always lived at the head of the lakes and was about 100 years old. He has no accurate way of recording his age other than associating it with a few incidents that happened in his early manhood. He was about 17 when some white fur traders brought the news of the surrender of Fort Macinaw to the fur company's trading post at Fond du Lac. This would make him about 99 years old.

Naganab will be buried at the reservation today with appropriate Indian ceremonies.

Naganab's sons Sitawash - Antoine and Mingogijigweb - Joseph

Antoine and Joseph were both in their forties in the year 1889. They will be the subject of another story.

Pine Knot - Dec. 7, 1895

The widow of Chief Naganab died on the reservation last Sunday. She was nearly one hundred years old. She was well known in Cloquet and was seen on our streets less than a week before her death walking as briskly as many of one fourth her age.

Onaabani-giizis

The new Onaabani-giizis begins March 11. This is the Hard Crust on the Snow moon. Other names for this moon are Bebookwedaagime-giizis, the Snowshoe Breaking Moon; Aandego-giizis, Crow moon; Niki-giizis, the Goose Moon and Ziisibaakwadooke-giizis, the Sugar Making Moon.

Hunting, trapping, and fishing

By Nikki Crowe

Some of the local trappers, hunters, and fishing harvesters from the local area are being highlighted by 13 Moons. I met Dena Allen the other day coming into the Fond du Lac Resource Management building to tag a bobcat she had taken. What I found interesting was her age and enthusiasm as a woman hunter and trapper.

I asked Dena to tell us a little more about herself:

Name: Dena Allen

Age: 24

Hometown: Superior, Wisc.

Tribe: Lac Courtre Orielles, Hayward, Wisc.

Occupation: Medical Assistant at St. Luke's OB/GYN

Activities: Currently attending WITC-Superior, Hunting, Four-wheeling, Fishing, and anything that involves being outdoors.

"Bow hunting is one of my favorite things to do. There is nothing comparable to sitting silently in the woods and watching the wildlife. There is a huge rush that comes with making a good shot on a doe or buck. Ice fishing is one of my favorite things to do during the cold wintery months. I am very grateful for fishing shacks. I think that everyone should try to get out and into the woods as often as possible. I feel that every person should have the opportunity to try hunting or fishing in their lifetime."

Miigwech to Dena for sharing her story with 13 Moons. If you know of a hunter, trapper, or fishing enthusiast and want to show off your favorite picture send your suggestions to nikki-crowe@fdlrez.com or call (218) 878-7148.

Announcing the FDLTCC Environmental Institute

By Courtney Kowalczak

Have you ever heard of the Environmental Institute? The Environmental Institute is an organization at Fond du Lac Tribal and Community College that promotes the educational and cultural growth of the community in studies covering natural resources and the environment. How do we achieve these goals? By unique programming, education, research, and outreach in environmental resource areas. The Environmental Institute has a long history of work in the college and community. Past Environmental Institute research projects have provided hands-on experience for students and graduates in resource-oriented fields and helped community members. Currently the Environmental Institute has three Tribal College extension programs that serve the Fond du Lac Band and greater regional community.

Thirteen Moons Ashiniswi giizisoog

The Thirteen Moons program connects Fond du Lac Band members and surrounding community members to natural resources, by increasing awareness of and knowledge about traditional and other resources; to social knowledge networks, by providing new opportunities for social interaction and education in the context of traditional and other natural resources; and to Ojibwe culture, by highlighting and honoring the importance of natural resources in the traditional and contemporary Ojibwe lives and livelihoods, and the skills that will allow these lives and livelihood strategies to endure. Visit the Thirteen Moons website at www.fdlrez.com/newnr/13moons.htm or view current events at the 13 Moons Facebook page.

Bimaaji'idiwin Ojibwe Garden Program

The Ojibwe Garden is a new program developed by the Fond du Lac Band of Lake Superior Chippewa in partnership with Fond du Lac Tribal and Community College, University of Minnesota Extension Service, and the United States Department of Agriculture. The aim of the program is to preserve and promote traditional Ojibwe cropping systems as well as educate the greater community about contemporary strategies for organic food and medicinal plant production. There are several strategies in place to accomplish this goal, including a demonstration garden, weekly hands-on gardening lessons, bimonthly gardening workshops, a weblog, seasonal outlooks, and garden interns who are available to make house calls to help Fond du Lac community members with their gardens. To follow the garden news and to learn about new events visit the Ojibwe Garden blog at <http://ojibwegardenprogram.wordpress.com/>

St. Louis River – River Watch Program

The St. Louis River Watch program is a youth based water quality monitoring program that focuses on the St. Louis River watershed and the Lake Superior Basin. This project, aimed at secondary school students, promotes and inspires stewardship of the largest U.S. tributary to Lake Superior and other nearby waterways. Currently, an estimated 800 students and teachers in 25 public, private, tribal, home, and alternative schools enthusiastically gather chemical, physical, and biological data twice per year at river sites located throughout northeastern Minnesota. Since 1997, Fond du Lac Tribal and Community College has coordinated this monitoring effort with the support of the USDA. To learn more about the St. Louis River – River Watch visit the webpage at <http://www.fdlcc.edu/academics/departments/special/stlouisriverwatch/> or their Facebook page.

The Environmental Institute is at an exciting stage of growth. New partnerships, new outreach programming, new research projects, and new opportunities are helping us achieve our mission of promoting the educational and cultural growth of the community in natural resources and the environment. We hope you join us at our next event.

Anishinaabemowin Lessons By Charles Smith

Consonants used in Ojibwe make nearly the same sounds that they do in English.

The Vowels are a little different though. Here they are:

- i = ih (like the 'i' sound in 'it')
- ii = ee (like the 'e' sound in 'see')
- o = o (like the 'o' sound in 'oh')
- oo = oo (like the 'o' sound in 'boo')
- a = ah (like the 'u' sound in 'but')
- aa = aa (like 'a' sound in father')
- e = ay (like the 'a' sound in 'say')

Basic Rule for Ojibwe:

Gisinaa. = It's cold.
Chi-gisinaa. = It's very cold.

Adding gichi- or chi- to a word makes it mean 'greatly' or 'very'. Here are some examples: Gichi-gami "Lake Superior", Gichi-zaaga'igan "Big Lake", Nichi-anokii "I work hard."

Some basic phrases and taboos
Gego onadinaakegon a'aw goon!
"Don't make snowmen!"
O-niigwa'!

"Go and break him up!"
Goon
"Snow (considered being alive)"
Zoogipon
"It is snowing."
Aaniin da naa
"What the heck."
Naagaj giga-waabamin
"See you later."
Baamaa.
"Later"

Today, children are still reminded not to make snowmen because they can turn into a windigo and eat them. This is a custom still practiced today. Another custom when Ojibwe Anishinaabe talk about weather or say somebody's name that happens to be a weather term as well, we don't yell them out. We'll change the weather then. If someone is called "Gimiwan", we don't yell out "Gimiwan" or it'll start raining.

Obituary

In loving memory of our sister Frieda (sis) Dupuis Sept. 21, 1935 – Feb. 4, 2013.

Your weary hours and days of pain and troubled nights are passed. In our aching hearts we know you have found sweet eternal rest.

We'll miss you, sisters, Pat and Evelyn

Harold "Harry" Bassett, 63, of Elk River, Minn. passed into eternal life, with our Lord and Savior on Feb. 22, 2013, at home with his loving family at his side. Harry had been diagnosed with Pancreatic Cancer in March of 2011, and fought a valiant battle to the very end.

Harry was born on June 20, 1949, to Arnold and Carolyn Bassett in Cloquet, Minn., and was the oldest of four children. He graduated from Cloquet High School, and very proudly with the 'Class of 1967'. Harry was a Native American, and honored to be from the Fond du Lac Reservation in Cloquet, Minn. He followed many Native American traditions, and raised his sons to love and respect the gifts of his heritage. He proudly served on several boards and committees on behalf of the reservation. Harry followed in his father's footsteps, and worked in the furniture business for almost 40 years. Harry was also proud to be a member of the Anoka Area Shrine Club and the Zuhrah Drum Corps. He loved hunting and fishing with his friends, his sons, and his grandsons. He was well-known for his wonderful sense of humor, his quick wit and his ability to bring a smile to anyone's face. Harry has left us with an indelible legacy of memories to cherish - precious memories about Harry, his jokes, his compassion, his honor, his pride and his deep devotion for his family and friends. Harry will be deeply missed by his family and his many, many friends.

Harry was preceded in death by his father, Arnold Bassett, in July of 2012. He is survived by his wife of 43 years, Gayle; their sons, Christopher (Cindy), and Bryan (Bridget); two very special grandsons, Ethan and Owen. He is also survived by his mother, Carolyn Bassett; his sisters, Lynn (Jeff) Gort, Brenda (Mike) Pollak, and a brother, Rick (Kim) Bassett; nieces, Meagan Pollak, Jennifer Clement, and nephews, Ben Gort, Sam Gort, Dan Bassett, and Nathan Pollak. He is also survived by many, many devoted friends. All will miss him.

Harry's wish was to be cremated. A private interment will be held in the spring at New Calvary Cemetery in Cloquet. Nelson Funeral Care, 1004 Cloquet Ave., Cloquet, Minn. is assisting the family with arrangements. See the family online guest book at: www.nelsonfuneralcare.net
